

Environmentally Responsible? Yes.

Lunar, Brushstone and Matrix—Beautiful porcelain tiles...and they're environmentally responsible.

Product Features

- All raw materials are natural products from the Earth
- Raw materials came from within 500 miles of the factory
- State-of-the-art water reclamation and waste reduction manufacturing process
- Use of waste from other manufacturers
- Longevity means less impact on the environment

Green. It's something we never forget.®
That's the Shaw Green Edge |™

Green is something we never forget.

Shaw partners with suppliers committed to sound ecological practices—an important step in helping balance ecosystem health by reducing the amount of natural resources used. It's often a challenge to find beautiful products that are sustainably produced, but Shaw strives to use companies following sustainable manufacturing procedures. We are committed to working with those companies that use methods and means which are quantifiably eco-sensitive.

These products were manufactured with conscientious environmental practices in mind and contain up to 40% post-industrial recycled content.